DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH
 HAWAII

from security paper. (I'll show a brighter image below so you can see it.) I've adjusted the brightness and contrast and put an arrow to show the abrupt line where the cross-hatches end, even though the certifying parts were supposedly on the same page with the cross-hatches when that single piece of paper was photocopied on the Xerox 7655. Why did the 7655 abruptly cut off the cross-hatches right there?

Here is the brighter image of the cross-hatches:

In a similar way, the White House website C&P'ed the Shopes image of his alleged COLB onto a page with header and a footer that gave the link to the image (<http://msgboard.snopes.com/politics/graphics/birth.jpg> copied it for the press, and posted it online at http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/rss\_viewer/birth-certificate.pdf But again, the cross-hatches were removed in the process. Here is the White House image:

And here is the Snopes image that was copied:

Again, what workflow caused the Xerox 7655 to change this image so drastically? Why didn't it change the long-form in the same way?
